Dear Parents and Carers

Relationships and Sex Education (RSE)

I am pleased to confirm that teachers across the school will shortly be teaching your children the contents of the Relationships and Sex Education (RSE) curriculum. Indeed, they may already have been in touch with you about what they have planned to teach your children.

RSE teaching is designed to be high quality, evidence based and age-appropriate in order to help prepare children for the opportunities, responsibilities and experiences of adult life. It gives children some knowledge which will enable them to make informed decisions about their well-being, health and relationships as they grow up. Moreover, it increases their capacity to make good decisions when facing risks, challenges and complex situations.

You do have the right to withdraw your child from these sessions if you so wish, but I would urge you to contact me to talk through this decision before you make it. You are also welcome to contact me if you have any questions about the content of the RSE curriculum and how it is delivered here at Goose Green. Our approach is a sensitive one that builds on children's knowledge and understanding year on year, ensuring that their learning is totally appropriate to their current age.

Please do not hesitate to contact me if you have any queries.

With best wishes

Simon Wattam
